AIM Overseas promotes overseas study and practical programs around the world. These programs are delivered exclusively by AIM Overseas' partner organisations, both domestically and abroad, which includes the delivery of the programs, tuition, accommodation and associated activities. AIM Overseas facilitates students' participation in these programs and relies on information provided by the host organisation. AIM Overseas is unable to guarantee the accuracy of such information. Students participating in programs are subject to the terms and conditions, and/or refund policies, of the host and partner organisations, whether they are located domestically in Australia or abroad. Once the full program payment has been made, refunds of any money that is paid to the host or partner institution is subject to the terms and conditions, and/or refund policies, and is at the discretion, of that host or partner. AIM Overseas' liability, if any, is limited to the refund of money retained by AIM Overseas for the provision of services in Australia in line with the amounts outlined above.
