Conditions of participation

Going overseas to study is an incredible personal and professional experience, but there is a serious side to it. By participating in a program, degree or other activity facilitated by AIM Overseas you ("the participant") are agreeing to the following terms and conditions of participation.

Should you have any questions about these conditions, please contact us at any time.

1. The participant agrees to behave appropriately as an ambassador for both the participant's home institution ("home institution") and Australia, with consideration to the different cultures, laws and customs of the host country. AIM Overseas accepts no responsibility for difficulties encountered, or loss or expenses incurred, as a result of negligent or irresponsible behaviour on the part of the participant.
2. All programs are subject to confirmation and change by the overseas institution ("host institution"). By registering for a program, the participant agrees to the terms and conditions of the host institution. AIM Overseas accepts no responsibility and will not be accounted liable for any type of loss or expenses etc incurred in the unlikely event that the host institution, or AIM Overseas, withdraws a program from offer after the participant has registered for the program. AIM Overseas will notify the participant as soon as possible if this occurs. Registration for a program is not final until the program fee has been paid in full and the participant has provided proof of comprehensive travel insurance.
3. Travel insurance is mandatory and the participant must show proof of insurance at the time of full payment of the program fee.
4. The participant agrees to complete all necessary documentation and make all payments in a timely manner and, whenever applicable, by the relevant deadline/s. AIM Overseas accepts no responsibility and will not be accounted liable for any loss or expenses incurred as a result of payments not being made and/or documentation not being completed in time.
5. AIM Overseas makes no guarantee of the participant receiving academic credit at the home institution. AIM Overseas will assist the participant as much as is reasonable to transfer credit, where applicable, but the participant acknowledges that credit is at the discretion of the home institution. AIM Overseas makes no representation, gives no opinion, accepts no responsibility and will not be accounted liable for how a program may or may not fit into a participant's academic program at the home institution.

6. AIM Overseas accepts no responsibility and will not be held liable for changes to the program implemented by the host organisation overseas including, but not limited to, structure of the program, inclusions, price, amount of credit allocated, course content, number of students, locations, fields trips and activities, assessment etc. Any such changes are entirely at the host organisation's discretion and are beyond AIM Overseas' control. Please refer to the host institution terms and conditions. AIM Overseas will, in the event of any changes notified by the host institution, notify the participant within a reasonable amount of time as to the nature of the change/s.

7. The participant should notify AIM Overseas if there is any form of physical, learning, or emotional disability that may require support services at the host institution. AIM Overseas does not guarantee support services at the host institution, as it constitutes a matter beyond its control.

8. Whilst AIM Overseas provides non-case-specific information about visas and visa processes generally available to the public, any information provided by AIM Overseas must be used as a guide only and does not constitute under any circumstance advice on visa and visa processes. The participant is requested to seek their own advice in relation to his/her visa status and agree to always confirm the information provided by AIM Overseas with the relevant consulate or embassy or a migration agent.

9. AIM Overseas is not a travel agent. Under no circumstances will AIM Overseas do any of the following:

- sell tickets entitling another person to travel, or otherwise arrange for another person a right of passage on conveyances;
- sell to, or arrange or make available for, another person rights of passage to a place and accommodation at that place;
- purchase for resale the right of passage on a conveyance.

10. The participant agrees to submit any legal dispute arising from or in connection with the performance of this transaction to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of New South Wales, Australia. The participant agrees to meet AIM Overseas before a mediator before starting any court proceedings.

11. If the participant decides to withdraw from a program, the participant acknowledges that the participant may forfeit part, or all, of any fees paid. Refunds and cancellation will be conducted in line with AIM Overseas' Refunds and Cancellation policy, available at www.aimoverseas.com.au or upon request, and the Refund and Cancellation policy of the host institution.

12. Should AIM Overseas or a host institution find a participant to be below their standards in terms of behaviour or honesty, AIM Overseas or the host institution may at their discretion terminate a participant's participation in a program, either prior to - or during - the program. For refunds and other terms of cancellation, please refer to AIM Overseas' Refunds and Cancellation policy.
